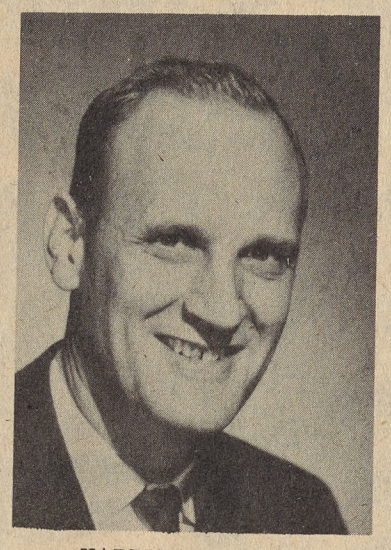
Harris Taylor -- from San Diego new CUSD Superintendent

Harris A. Taylor, presently district superintendent for the Calsbad Union School District, has accepted the position of superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District, replacing Medill Bair. The announcement was made at a special session of the school board held Monday night.

Taylor, who has been superintendent in the San Diego area school district since 1964, will assume his duties in Carmel on August 1, but will remain in contact with his previous district for a few weeks to assist his replacement. Medill Bair has been meeting with Taylor to acquaint him with CUSD duties. (Bair will leave next week for his new position in Hartford, Conneticut.)

The schedule announced will provide a beginning salary of



HARRIS A. TAYLOR

$20,000 with a jump to $21,500 the second year. The third year of the contract, Taylor's earning will be increased $1,000 and in the fourth year his salary will be $23,500. In place of a provision for a school district automobile, the new superintendent will use his own car with a $170 a month car allowance, according to Medill Bair.

Harris Taylor is a 1942 graduate of Eastern Washington State College. He majored in history and received his Master's Degree from the same college in 1950. Taylor got his Doctorate in Education from Stanford University in 1954.

Through 1949 he was a teacher of history and English at several schools in Washington State, and from 1951-53 was principal of Terwilliger Elementary School in Portland, Oregon. From '54-'55 he was a principal at La Mesa Elementary School in La Mesa, California, and from '55-'59 held the position of assitant superintendent at that school.

From 1959-64, Taylor was Associate Professor of Education at Claremont Graduate School. Since 1964 he has held the superintendent's position in the Carlsbad Union Elementary District.

In addition to these duties, Taylor has been extremely active in the literary field, writing articles for a number of education publications.

His wife and two teen-age sons, ages 14 and 16, will accompany him to Carmel. Mrs. Taylor has been a primary grade teacher prior to their moving to the Peninsula.

"Straw Hat Festival" gives fun for everyone

The winner of the Maytag washer and dryer raffled off by the Carmel Valley Youth Organization as top prize in their Straw Hat Festival was Mrs. H. E. Dockery of Del Rio Road. Darlene Tavares sold Mrs. Dockery the winning tickets and she told her the good news on Saturday night after her name had been drawn at the Community Center.

Winner of the air trip over the Peninsula was R. H. Hoge of El Caminito. Winners of tickets for two to Carmel's Village Theatre were H.A. Bessler of San Jose, J.D Lucas from the NPGS, Mr. Rainer of Carmel and Jack Black of Panetta Road.

There were kids galore at the Festival which provided a full day's fun for everyone. Mrs. George (Bobbie) Glendenning, president of the CVYO Adult Board, told the Outlook that the gross taken from the Festival was in the neighborhood of $1200.

"As soon as bills have been paid and expenses figured we will announce the net profit for the youth group.

"We had hoped that more adults would participate in the Festival, and those that did certainly seemed to enjoy themselves," Bobbie added.

Pictures and final report on the Straw Hat Festival will appear in next week's Outlook.

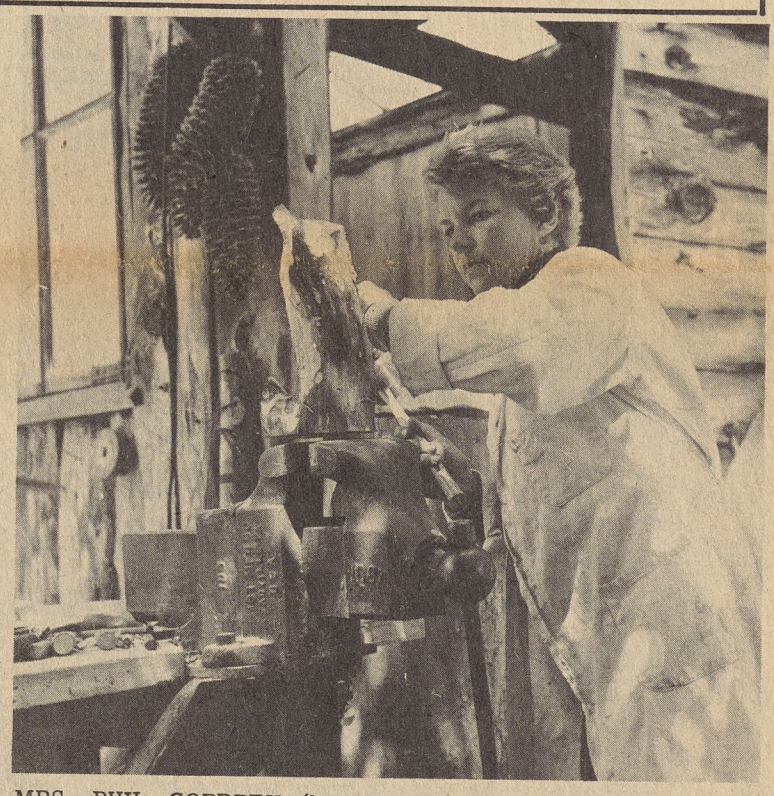
Opening day for schools

The Outlook has received several calls from parents wondering just when classes would resume in the Carmel and Carmel Valley Schools. First day back at school is Tuesday, September 6. However, Friday, September 9, will be a holiday, celebrating Admission Day, and making a three day week-end for most people.



MRS. PHIL CORDREY (known either as Tommy or Audrey) has been studying with Alex Weygers since last year's summer workshop. Tommy is beginning the preliminary shaping of a mother and child fashioned from juniper wood. She has received several commissions through Weygers who has been giving her private instruction in addition to the summer class. See pages 8 and 9 for a picture story on the summer workshop at the Weygers studio in La Rancheria.

MARTHA ZIEGLER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ziegler of Horizon Way, is the new official hostess for the CV Trail and Saddle Club. Martha will represent T & S at the Salinas Rodeo, the CV Horsemen's Association Roundup on August 7, and the Trail and Saddle Club Horse Show on September 4.

CV Village Committee invites new business memberships

The Village Committee is appealing to Carmel Valley businesses to join their growing group of dedicated merchants. The aim of the Committee is to more effectively promote shopping in Carmel Valley Village.

Membership dues are $15 per month which is used in promotion. Plans include new signs at the mouth of the Valley, the Farm Center, Los Laureles Grade and on the Monterey-Salinas Highway. A new promotion soon to begin will feature monthly prizes from Village merchants culminating in a grand prize, probably a color television set, in the Fall.

The Rhyming Philosopher

I once had a garden with cabbage and corn,
And beefsteak tomatoes I watered at dawn;
I seeded and weeded like someone possesed,
But bugs ate the cabbage and worms got the rest.
So then I raised roses, or tried to at least,
But this wasn't easy, my troubles incresased.
Chrysanthemums fattened a gopher's inside,
While all my petunias shriveled and died.

I once had a garden, but that is long past,
The weeds and the sagebrush took over at last.
Now bugs and the slugs and the snail and his mate
Have left me to chew someone else's estate.
So now I buy ev'rything down at the store,
Less strain on the nerves, doesn't cost any more.
An ad in the paper sold ev'ry last tool;
I exercise now playing cow-pasture pool.

The only thing left is the lawn I neglected
Which failed to give up like the way I expected.
Instead of reverting to thistles and clover
It's lovely and green--since my wife took it over.

Plan 50 unit condominium

A plan for a 50 unit condominium on Country Club Drive was presented for the Chamber of Commerce to view at their regular board meeting last Wednesday.

The proposal was presented by Larry Cummings who plans the development with Harry Gillette. The parcel, fronting on Country Club Drive and Country Club Way adjacent to Rancho del Monte Resort, consists of approximately three and a half acres. The entire piece, including motel units, restaurant, pool, et cetera, is 6.8 acres.

Cummings stated that the land is presently zoned R3DB4 (transient residential, subject to use permit for a resort hotel). D indicates design control. Without a use permit, duplexes with a one acre minimum would be permitted, according to Bob Slimmons, zoning administrator.

He will ask the County Planning Commission to rezone it R3DB4 S. This would mean that if the change in zoning is permitted, then the density would be established (in this case, the developers are asking for 50 units) and it would also make it possible for the occupants to purchase their units.

Presentation before the Upper Valley Advisory Board is scheduled for Thursday (tomorrow) at 4:30 in the Community Center. Hearing before the Planning Commission is set for 2 p.m. on Wednesday, July 27.

DUPLEXES
AND APARTMENTS

The structures, designed by Carmel architect Clyde Smith, would be two story with living rooms and kitchens on the lower floors, and bedrooms upstairs in the two-family units.

In addition to the double buildings on the upper portion of the property, there would be four structures which would house eight apartments each, four on each floor.

The units would each contain two bedrooms, living-dining room and, in some cases, one or two fireplaces. Price of each condominium unit would be in the neighborhood of $30,000 and would include a membership in the Rancho del Monte Resort for swimming and other recreation.

Cummings told the Chamber that porosity tests, run on the land to determine its suitability for septic fields to serve the 50 units, had been rated acceptable.

The Chamber expressed approval of the idea as it had been developed to date.

Administrative candidates still being considered for CUSD

A total of six candidates for the job of superintendent have been recommended to the Carmel School Board following action of the screening committee. The outstanding qualifications of each candidate has made the decision an extremely difficult one to make, though school board President Newton stated that they have "high hopes of coming to a decision soon, probably some time this month."

Three officers were re-elected to the board in last Wednesday night's meeting: Dr. R. E. Newton, President; Mr. Clayton Neill, Jr., Clerk; and as Representative to the County Committee, Mrs. Roxanna Blanks.

Extensive discussion followed a motion concerning payment to be made to Administrative Assistant Dan Yurkovich, for extra responsibilities and services rendered to the district. Mr. Medill Bair explained that he had asked Yurkovich to give up his vacation for the month of August to take on additional work then, and in the following months. The motion would pay Yurkovich an additional $500 each month for the next four months, or as Dr. Newton explained, one-twelfth of Yurkovich's annual salary. Newton also stated that Yurkovich will be entitled to take the vacation at a later date.

In opposition to this move, board member Dr. Hilton Bialek said that this extra payment might prove to be unnecessarily binding to the new superintendent. Mr. Neill added that perhaps Yurkovich would be paid for something he is being paid to do already. It was eventually decided that "We are going to get what we pay for" and since the extra payment is temporary, an effective compromise was reached with the motion passing, 4-1, Bialek in opposition.

A letter submitted to the board from the C.H.S. English Department questioned the necessity and advisability of the board's decision to cut the number of English teachers at the high school from 10 to 8 for the upcoming year.

In part the letter stated: "By eliminating the hiring of a replacement (thus reducing the staff to 8), the board has crossed its lines in two ways: 1) It has nullified the policy of a 4 period day for English teachers, and 2) It has created a situation wherein a number of teachers may have a load as high as 145. We have not given up hope of being able to continue to give the students at the high school a superior education. All we ask is that the students take an equitable share of cuts. As it stands, we feel that both the students and the teachers of English have been asked to take a cut that is detrimental."

Mrs. Romayne L. Hill, Chairman for the English Department added that "this is putting the English program back very seriously...this department has been hit hard and the students are going to suffer."

California Rodeo

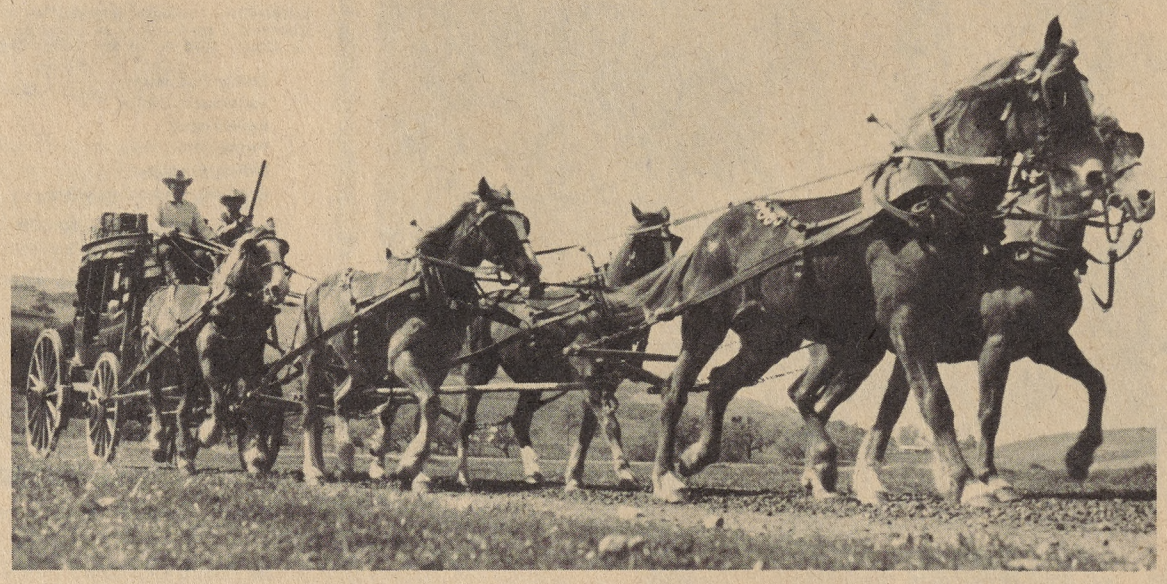
NATION'S TOP COWBOYS COMPETE FOR $51,000 PURSE

The nation's leading cowboys have again chosen the California Rodeo at Salinas, which they voted as their favorite several years ago.

Reporting at the chutes during the four days of the rodeo, July 21 through 24, will be Bill Smith, Cody, Wyoming, leading for the saddle bronc riding world's championship at the halfway mark; Paul Mayo, Grinnel, Iowa, who is out in front for the bareback bronc riding championship; Jack Roddy, San Jose, currently the man to beat for world championship steer wrestling honors and Jim Rodriguez, Jr., Paso Robles, who is on his way to his fifth team roping championship.

Also entered is Bob Ragsdale, Chowchilla, California, who is second in the race for the calf roping championship and second only to Dean Oliver in the standings for all-around world's champion. A big win at Salinas could tighten the race in the absence of Oliver.

Ronnie Rossen, Broadus, Montana, second in bull riding, will also have an opportunity to close the gap which separates him from Bob Wegner, the current leader from Auburn, Washington.



THE BEN HOLLADAY STAGE COACH will be a feature of the Grand Entry Parade at the Salinas Rodeo on Saturday and Sunday. In its heyday in the 1860's a full load for the Holladay included nine passengers inside, three on either side of the stage, and three on jump seats in the middle, their backs resting against the horizontal hanging leather strap. Seven others clung to the roof

With more than $51,000 in purses and entry fees to be distributed during the four days, success at Salinas has given contestants a big boost towards national honors in past years.

Harley May, Oakdale, won the steer wrestling at Salinas last year and went on to national honors, and Jack Roddy, currently leading in this event, has been a Salinas winner. Jim Rodriguez, who has won the team roping championship four times, has usually been assisted along the way by a win at Salinas.

COLMO DEL RODEO

The novelty division of the Colmo del Rodeo lighted night parade, July 23, will include many entrants.

The Meadow Gold clowns and their miniature milk truck, driven by a 6-foot-5-inch clown, are all personnel of the company. Also competing will be the Tehran Shrine clowns from Fresno. The 15 funny fellows have won first place trophies and awards in parades throughout the state.

A perennial entry is the French engine of 1918 vintage by the Voiture 621 from San Benito County. The train has traveled 1,085 miles this year and has given rides to 790 children, including those at the Carson City orphanage.

Tickets for the 8:30 Colmo del Rodeo Parade are available by calling the Colmo del Rodeo Parade Ticket Office in Salinas at 424-2720 or 424-2731. Reserved tickets are $2.00 for everyone; grandstand tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for children.

STAGECOACH IN PARADE

Wells Fargo Bank's century-old stagecoach, the BEN HOLLADAY, will join the mounted horsemen in the Salinas Rodeo parade with a full complement of local and state dignitaries, some with their children and grandchildren.

The old coach will liven the Salinas scene with authentic, historical color and excitement Saturday and Sunday, July 23-24, last two days of the four-day 55th annual rodeo.

Musical program at Forest Theatre Sunday afternoon

The Sunday afternoon program to be presented by the Carmel Arts Commission at the Forest Theatre will be in two parts.

Opening the afternoon performance at 2 p.m. will be the Brass Ensemble from Monterey Peninsula College. The 15 piece group will give examples of all stylistic periods including contemporary, baroque, brass, etc.

The second half of the Sunday concert will feature Leticia Abellar, pianist, of the Academy of Music in Monterey. Miss Abellar was hear recently in a program presented in Seaside by the Academy, where she is a staff member, teaching piano, ensemble and theory.

The Sunday afternoon programs are presented through the summer free of charge at the Forest Theatre at Mountain View and 8th.

Letters to the Editor

Unselfish plea from 4-H youth

EDITOR: My lamb always liked me to scratch him on his wooly head and he also liked to listen to the radio. He was a lot of fun for me but Mr. Goodrick, our 4-H Director, told us all at our meeting not to become too attached to our lambs because they had to be auctioned at the County Fair next month. So I didn't even give mine a name because if I did that would make me more attached to him. He came when I whistled.

He's registered at the Fair but he won't be able to go. He's dead. Last Tuesday before we went to sleep my lamb was fine and looked so happy and nice. The next morning at feeding time he was lying on his side. It was too late to get a veterinarian or anything. He weighed 75 pounds already and he was going to help me save for college.

My mom and I live on Flight Road in our little home that was made over out of a nice, good stable. I sleep in the hayloft and I bet anybody who likes to climb would like this place. It's a good place to work on my 4-H projects where there is lots of space outdoors.

In case anybody's big dog came home all bloody in the middle of the night last Tuesday, maybe he was the one that got my lamb. I hope he can be helped, however they help dogs that do things like this, so nobody else has to be as sad as I was. The Sheriff came to our place to see my lamb and he felt awful bad, too, and he hoped we could find out something about it. If anybody knows anything that will help, will they call me? I sure do thank you a lot.

Music students attend Lyceum Summer Music Camp at Asilomar

Students "sitting-in" with the American Symphony Orchestra League Workshop Orchestra at the Lyceum Summer Music Camp at Asilomar, have been provided with an opportunity, as young conductors, to practice their art. Students attending the Music Camp from Carmel are: Gregory Sprung, trumpet; John Morrice, violin; and Greg Stegeman, trumpet.

The students are now completing their third and last week of the workshop, under the supervision of Fred P. Schlichting, Artistic Director of the Lyceum Music Program. The Summer Camp program has included daily classes and rehearsal sessions, observations and attendance at the American Symphony League Orchestra rehearsals, and private lessons from professional musicians for each student. The musical abilities demonstrated by the students have been noteworthy and have been praised by all who have heard them, including their professional counterparts in the orchestra.

Competition for trophies will be keen at annual Concours d' Elegance

The largest entry in the 16 year history of the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance will be on public display July 23 at Del Monte Lodge. A total of 134 cars are to be judged in 17 classes. Cars may be seen from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is $1.50 and all proceeds from the traditional summer event will go to the Monterey Peninsula Community Hospital Auxiliary.

The Concours features classes for European sports and passenger cars, pre-war American classic cars, pre-war European cars, special interest, antique cars, Rolls-Royces and Bentleys.

A 1940 Austin Bantam coupe, donated by C. Taylor Pillsbury of Hillsborough (formerly of Pebble Beach) will be given away as a gate prize, along with two framed original Concours poster drawings by magazine cartoonist Eldon Dedini of Carmel.

Morden Buck of Carmel Valley has entered his 1964 220 SE Mercedes, which won first in class last year, and Randolph Hilton of Carmel has entered his 1966 ISO Rivolta Coupe in the same European Passenger Car class.

For the Rolls-Royce classes a special award will be given this year. Donated by Jack Flaherty of British Motors of Monterey, the award is the "Lucius Beebe Memorial Trophy" for the best Rolls in the show.

There will be a Carmel entrant in each of the three Rolls classes. Gen. H. N. Lyon of Carmel will exhibit his 1925 Rolls Royce Roadster in the Open Pre-War class. Arthur Mullaly will show his 1939 Rolls Phantom III in the Closed Pre-War class. Miss Jane Stretch of Carmel will show her 1965 Rolls Royce Silver Cloud in the Post-War Rolls-Royce class.

J. Van Amerongen of Carmel will enter his 1965 Bentley S-3 Sedan. A 1953 Jowett Jupiter will be entered by Carmel resident Randy Reinstedt in the classification of Special Interest Cars.

Among the rare models entered this year are William Harrah's 1931 Bugatti and a 1927 Baby Bugatti Grand Prix Electric. The Baby Bugatti is described as a "factory made child's car, made to scale." It is for exhibit only and will not compete for awards.

John Thorpe of Castro Valley has entered his classic 1929 Dusenberg Model J and Tad Hutchinson of Hollywood is competing with his rare 1939 MG-TA Tickford Drophead coupe.

By Mildred Hattan

When Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Radford were invited to the Miramonte Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dryden for cocktails, they did not expect to find the large group of friends assembled for a party celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary. The 'bride' in a gold metallic suit with pink lace blouse and pink shoes, was presented with a gold-tipped orchid corsage. Congratulatory phone calls during the afternoon were accepted by the Radfords from a sister-in-law in San Clemente, a cousin in Philadelphia, and a school chum of Mrs. Radford who now resides in Seattle.

Elegant decor about the rooms planned by Effie and John included an enchanting lighted chapel in a handsome setting of gold magnolia leaves and yellow gladioli. The "bride's" table was covered with a gold taffeta cloth and a white drape embellished with the Greek key. It was centered with a two-tiered wedding cake decorated with gold leaves. Blossoms of yellow mums were an effective touch of color among the serving dishes and champagne bowl. A seat of honor for the celebrants was an oppropriate love seat upholstered in gold and flanked by two large green plants decorated with golden balls. Guests were invited to place greeting cards of congratulations in a golden heirloom champagne bowl centering a long white marble table with gold tapers on either side. Assisting with serving were Mrs. Doris Anderson and Mrs. Lloyd Todd.

Among the others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Herman, Col. and Mrs. Anders Larsen, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Collins, Mr. Fred Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kvenild, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gansel, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Poorman, Mr. Lloyd Todd, Mr. Fredrick Bosbyshell of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. George Mead, Mrs. Backy Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Maury Nessel, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vickrey of Encino, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Naslund and Mr. and Mrs. Su Kim.

The ~~population~~ of the Cachagua has increased by one with the June 22 arrival of Master Benjamin Keith Scardina. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter T. Scardina weighed 7 lbs. 15 oz. when he arrived at the Community Hospital. In addition to a sister, Natalie, and a brother, Tony, the new baby was welcomed by his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bernice Stimson of Pacific Grove, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Barris Scardina of Monterey.

Mrs. Theodore Gawain and her daughter, Mary Anne, of Dorris Drive have returned from a ten day stay at Sycamore Flats on the Arroyo Seco. Accompanied by Mrs. Edward Kowal and her son, Francis, the foursome stayed in Mrs. Nutting's famed "cottage." The enormous six bedroom home of stone was ideal for escaping the heat and many pleasant hours were spent in the adjoining swimming pool.

A pink Polynesian Luau was the theme chosen by Sandy Swiess for her birthday event which combined a barbecue, slumber party, and breakfast. A birthday cake beautifully decorated by her sister, Sherry, was in keeping with the theme, topped with a Hawaiaan dancing girl and twelve candles. Spending the night at the River Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Swiess were Stephanie Fox, Jennifer Kirksey, Yvonne Allaire, Vicki Bennett, Sara Gay Senger, Linda Klemek, Jenny Thornburg, Lori Smith, Diane Klech, Margy Boyd, Suzie McCabe, and Sandy's brothers, Scott and Shawn.

Twenty-five members of the Carmel Valley Garden Association enjoyed the day at Point Lobos. A picnic dinner and brief meeting at Bird Rock was followed by a nature walk directed by Judson Vandervere, who identified native plant and animal life. A potluck dinner will be held in August at the William Milbourn home on Boronda Road.

Winners of the final Duplicate Bridge Tournament which was held in June by members of the Valley Bridge Club at the Community Center saw first place awards made to E. W. Gravelle and John Van Laanen, second place to Mrs. Robert Angell and Mrs. Howard Vail, and third to Col. A. L Frid-

Residents are reminded of firearms law

The unfortunate shooting of game last week near the C.V. Inn reminds us as each summer during vacation time, to advise new residents and to remind residents of long standing, that ALL firearms are prohibited in the Carmel Valley Protective Fire District. The district which encompasses an area from Rancho Fiesta on West Carmel Valley Road to the Russell Ranch on East Carmel Valley Road and from hill-top to hill-top, is covered by a County of Monterey Ordinance, #984. The law makes it a misdemeanor to discharge so much as a sling shot or BB gun in the district unless supervised and approved by the Sheriff's Department. Violation of the ordinance can result in a $300 fine and/or 90 days in jail. Parents are asked to explain the law to their target-seeking youngsters and advise them that it is strictly enforced.

E.B. Millers are selected to be hosts to exchange student

The E.B. Millers of Rancho Rio Vista, Carmel, are the choice of the Carmel Chapter of the AFS as a family for a prospective AFS student, Miss Grethe-Maria Fox, a 17 year old girl from Capetown, South Africa. Arriving in California on approximately August 2, Grethe will be living with the Miller family for one year.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.A.E. Fox, both of whom are natives of South Africa, Grethe's father is a prominent architect, who with her mother visited the United States recently as winner of a Carnegie Travel grant. Her mother has a degree in languages and worked as a jounalist before her marriage.

Although English is naturally her first language, Grethe is proficient in the language of Afrikaans. At one time living in Sweden, she has travelled extensively throughout Europe. Grethe is interested in Ballet and Drama and has expressed a desire to study Modern Dance.

With one of the Miller's three daughters attending the University of California, other daughters Chelsea, 16, and Cameron (Cammy), 11, will keep Grethe occupied, and Chelsea will be responsible for Grethe when she attends Carmel High School in the fall. Mr. Warren Edwards has approved Grethe's high school schedule to be completely acceptable. Mr. Michael Williams will be the teacher advisor from Carmel High to the AFS Chapter.

Excited about the prospects of having another "daughter" and "sister" in the family, the Millers spent hours writing a letter in which they told Grethe and her family all about themselves and where they live. They also discovered that the Encyclopedia Britannica described Capetown as a charming seaside city with a pleasant climate, surrounded by a breathtakingly beautiful ocean, a description seemingly identical to that of the Monterey Peninsula.

Stars in musical comedy presentation

LINDA BOBLITT has the leading role of Princess Winnifred in "Once Upon a Mattress." This far-out adaptation of the fairy tale story of "The Princess and the Pea" opens July 21 at 8:30 p.m. and will play Thursdays through Sundays until August 7.

Outlook Leisure Times

White Oaks opens 'Once Upon a Mattress' Thurs.

"Once Upon a Mattress," the fairy tale story of "The Princess and the Pea," in the guise of modern musical comedy, will be the next major production at White Oaks Theatre. Opening Thursday night at 8:30, the show will play Thursday through Sunday nights for three weeks.

The story opens in a medieval kingdom where knighthood is in flower, but womanhood is not.

The ladies-in-waiting can't marry until Prince Dauntless (Don Honeycutt) is wed. This seems unlikely to occur since his mother, Queen Aggravain (Tracy Carr), allows no prospect to pass the "real princess" test, and the King (Ron Stark), struck dumb by sorcery, can do little to control his domineering wife.

Thus, the knight Sir Harry (John Herzog), in order to marry his beloved and expectant Lady Larken (Shelia Jo White), goes in quest of a bride for Dauntless. In the far-off Swamplands, he finds the Princess Winnifred (Linda Boblitt).

Shirley Eoff is directing the show with musical coordinator Chris Nance and choreographer Sandra Lundwall. Scenic designs and lights are by Jack Simon and costumes by Don Mulderick. Master carpenter is Dave Jenkinson.

"Mattress" made its 1959 debut at the Phoenix Theatre in New York establishing the ultimate success of comedienne Carol Burnett. Miss Boblitt adds the role of Winnifred to a list of White Oaks credits which include Ado Annie in last summer's "Oklahoma!" and Rosalie in the recent production of "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mamma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad."

"Beyond the Fringe," a comic revue with music, will open Tuesday evening, July 26, at White Oaks Theatre. The cast consists of seven male members of the summer company.

The satirical show debuted in London in 1961 coming to New York the following year for a long run. Complete with sketches incorporating comedy and music, "Fringe" is definitely "anti-Establishment" which, though of British origin, has a humorous flavor that is universally applicable.

The sketches which incorporate music and comedy poke fun at a number of subjects running a gamut of titles from "Steppes in the Right Direction" to "Aftermyth of War" to "End of the World."

Under the direction of Ken Bachtold, who is also a cast member, men working in the show are Bob Locke, Denny Flinn, Ron Stark, Michael Collins, Don Honeycutt, and Michael S. Riordan.

A revue of this type is a nuance on the White Oaks stage. Bachtold himself appeared in the recent San Francisco State College production and Honeycutt in still another presentation at Louisiana State University.

"Fringe" will be presented on Tuesdays at 8:30 through August 30.

Hepburn-Tracy classic at MPC

"Woman of the Year," the witty, fast-paced comedy which won the 1942 Academy Award for Best Original Screenplay, will be shown Friday, July 22, 7 and 9 p.m. in the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall.

Free tickets for the fifth offering in MPC's summer film series, "Comic Nostalgia," are available at the college administration building switchboard. Ticket-holders will be given priority seating.

Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn as a nonchalant sportswriter and a charming news reporter, made "Woman of the Year" the film which established its stars as an acting team, setting the pattern for a series of domestic comedies to follow.

'Ballets de Paris' at Tantamount

Paris comes to Carmel Valley this weekend, Friday and Saturday nights, when Roland Petit's "Ballets de Paris" takes over the screen at the Tantamount Theatre.

That grand Parisienne, Maurice Chevalier, is an added attraction. He is credited with an English narration. Only one screening each night; curtain time is 8:40.

'Pajama Game' opens at Carmel's Studio Theatre, to play 'til Sept.

"The Pajama Game" opened Friday at the Studio Theatre & Restaurant in Carmel with Lois Wright Ahrens and Sam Matar in the lead roles of Babe and Sid. Lois has sung in the Fort Ord productions of "Finian's Rainbow" and "Flower Drum Song," and played Polly in "The Boy Friend" and Daisy Mae in "Li'l Abner" for the Long Beach Off Broadway Theatre.

Sam Matar, well known in local theatre circles, directed and took the lead in "Kismet" at the Naval Postgraduate School and his most recent role was Starbuck in "The Rainmaker" at the Circle Theatre.

Last appearing as Agnes Gooch in "Auntie Mame" for the Little Theatre of Monroe, Louisiana, Carolyn Evans plays the Carol Haney part of Gladys. Prez is played by Tom Brown in his local stage debut. John Soprano, another local favorite, appears as Hines following earlier roles in "Annie Get Your Gun," and "The King and I."

"The Pajama Game" is directed and staged by John Holmes Pierce. The sets and costumes are from the same production at the Pacific Playhouse in Stockton for Betty Hackett Martin.

Reservations for dinner and show or show only may be made by calling 624-1661 or 624-6739. "The Pajama Game" will run at the Studio through July 24 and thereafter will alternate weekly with "The Fantasticks" through Labor Day, Mondays excepted.

COMMON BOULDERS FROM BIG SUR RIVER PRO
MARBLE FOR ALEX WEYGERS' SCULPTURE CLA

Native materials provide the stone and wood used in Alex Weygers' summer sculpture classes. With continuity, the entire philosophy of Weygers' class is natural and self sufficient. In the shops, studios and outdoor areas, students work in natural surroundings of rock, clay, gnarled old oak trees, and buildings fashioned of log slabs. The first thing they learn is to fashion their own tools out of bits of scrap metal which Alex has collected...a veritable treasure trove. There is no list of equipment to be bought in an art supply store.

Then each summer, the class goes on a marble hunting foray to Big Sur. Transplanted Easterners or visitors may raise th

ABOVE LEFT—Kayla Holmes commutes each day from Santa Cruz for Alex Weygers' summer workshop. This is her first year in class, and she is fashioning her impressions of an old philosopher with his arm enveloping a child. Her material is Carmel Valley sandstone. Weygers has each student make a small clay model of his idea, so that there is some visible means of knowing hwat is in the mind of the sculptor. Working on all sides equally, the three dimension form takes shape as a whole, no one part completed out of sequence.

CENTER—A large chunk of fine homogenous sandstone is discovered in the Little Sur River by Weygers. Second year student Lee-Ellen Hawley of Monterey examines the color and grain of the stone, as Peter Partch dis1 odges it with a crowbar.

LOWER RIGHT—Lee-Ellen follows Weygers' teaching as she tests marble boulders for fineness of grain before deciding to transport them to the car. If there is a great deal of light reflection from flat planes in the boulder, then it is likely to shatter when chipped.

raise their eyebrows and say "Marble?!"....as they envision polished slabs of travertine or Vermont marble.

The river beds of the Little Sur and Big Sur Rivers provide Alex and his class with many boulders of finely grained white marble. They make a day of it, wading through the streams with hammer and chisel in hand, stopping at a pleasant spot for a picnic lunch and conversation, and then continuing on their hunt for suitable boulders for carving. Car springs are groaning as students head homeward at the afternoon's end.

Later this month, after each member of the class has made his wood carving tools, they will take another field trip to the Santa Cruz mountains to gather material for wood sculpture.

enthal and Mrs. M. L. Stoney. The first meeting of the club for July listed first place winners as Mrs. Arnold Bradley and Mrs. George Corrigan, second place, John Van Laanen and Maurice Stoney, and third place Mrs. Martha Vail and Mrs. Mary Drobek.

In a wedding ceremony at the City Hall in Pacific Grove performed by Judge R. C. Eldred, Susan Celina Robinson became the bride of Ira Sandperl last Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Sandperl is the president of the Institute for the Study of Non-Violence on East Carmel Valley Road. Mrs. Sandperl is the traveling secretary for the founder of the Institute, Joan Baez. Their wedding attendants were Holly Chenery and Wendy Bollitz.

Members of the Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association met Monday evening in the recreation hall of Hidden Hills Ranch for a potluck dinner. During the brief business meeting conducted by club president Dick McKenzie, plans for the August 6-7 annual Roundup were discussed. The dinner was followed by an evening of Bingo. "An oak leaf cluster" to the organization who won first place honors in their division among uniformed riders in the Seaside 4th of July parade.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kern have returned to their home on Calle de la Paloma following a week's vacation at Yosemite. Accompanied by their daughters, Elizabeth and Katherine, the Kern family enjoyed hiking, donkey rides, and floating down the Merced River on air mattresses.

Deputy sheriffs of the Monterey Sub-station and their families enjoyed a picnic Sunday at the Saddle Mountain Ranch. Kenny Larsen was in charge of the outing attended by fifty people. Deputies Wayne Parks and Larry Schumaker provided the entertainment with their selection of Western songs and their guitars accompanied the community singing which was enjoyed during the afternoon.

The Carmel Valley Lionettes once again helped two patients at the Carmel Convalescent Hospital celebrate their July birthdays. Chairman of "Operation Happy Birthday," Mrs. Larry Feldman, took gifts, flowers, and a cake beautifully decorated by Mrs. George Jennings to Roberta Watkins, who was 69, and Emily Fischele, who was 91.

Another July birthday was celebrated at the Carmel Convalescent Hospital by a Valleyite, Beth M. Williams, who was 73 on the 6th. Bringing greetings from their home in Alameda were her cousin and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Walker, and from her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Lenox who arrived from Medford, Oregon. The visitors were guests of their family on Phelps Way, the Mark Hattans.

Peggy and Charles Hunt, former Valley residents who now make their home in the Monarch Pines Mobile Homes have returned from a trip to Southern California. The first fifteen days, Peggy "holidayed" in the hospital, but was able to later enjoy a visit with former Valleyites, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Abbott. Inez and Charles live in a mobile home in Escendino and sent "hellos to all their nice Valley friends."

On their sight-seeing tour, the Abbotts took the Hunts to luncheon at Lawrence Welk's elegant mobile home. Other former residents, the Sabanskis live near the Abbotts and sent greetings to their neighbors and friends.

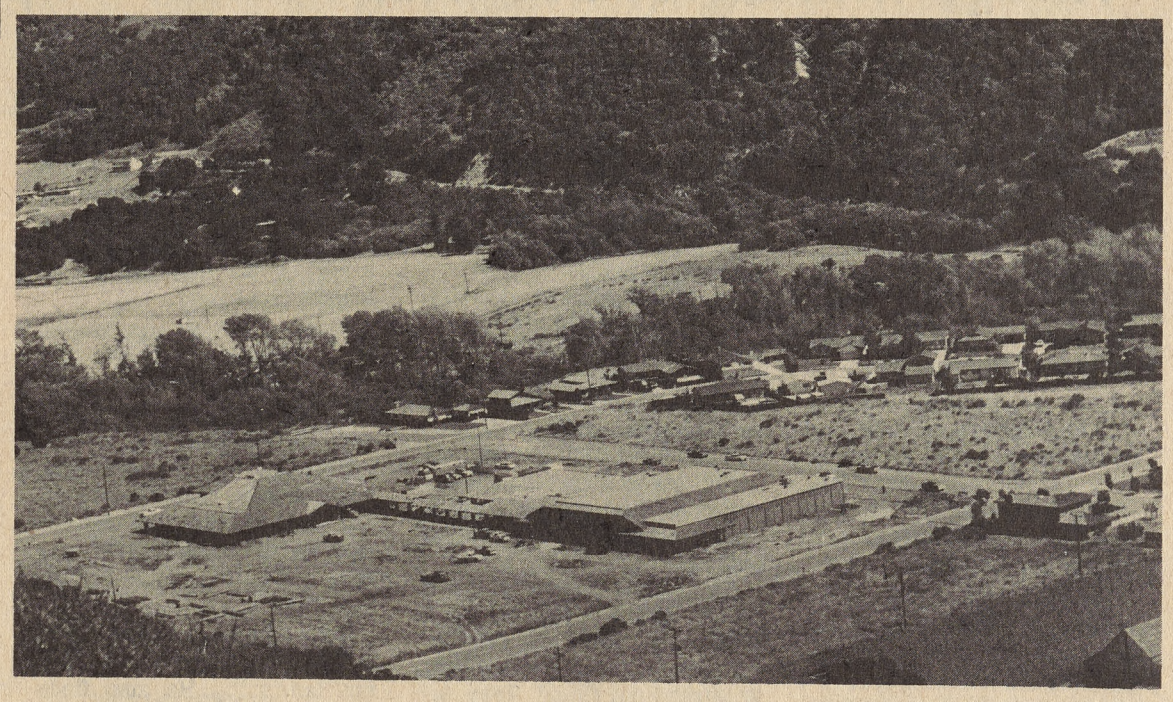
En route home the travelers visited their niece in Corona Del Mar, a sister in San Gabriel, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. F. Howell, who returned with them to Monarch Pines.

The J. Howard Maycott family have moved from Hitchcock Canyon to the home formerly occupied by the Robert Ziener family on Buena Vista del Rio.

A particularly beautiful sight to Mr. and Mrs. Tony Steliga was the destroyer, USS Gridley, anchored during the 4th of July celebration in the Monterey Bay, because one of the crew members happened to be their son, Bob. Following special training, Bob was flown to Viet Nam where he joined the Gridley which since returning to the States has been in training at Long Beach Bob and his buddies enjoyed shore leave at the family home on El Caminito. Leaving the Monterey port, the Gridley is currently on a gunnery training cruise and will return to Long Beach in time for Bob's leave in August.

Much happiness to Cindy and Paul Naton in their new home on Rancho Tierra Grande. With sons Paul and Ross, the Natons have until recently made their home in the Village Manor Apartments on Village Drive.

Early October opening date set for CV Shopping Center



In planning the new Carmel Valley Shopping Center, developers Paul Porter, George Clemens and Jack Craft, desired to have the center blend in and conform with the surroundings of the Valley. The cluster of low-lying buildings carries through the horizontal planes of the low river land and the adobe color of the concrete wall panels and arcades repeats the charwcteristic natural color of the hills.

Wall panels and columns combine textures of smooth and agregate finish, with geometric design patterns to add interest. Architect Olaf Dahlstrand has topped the buildings with shake roofs to complete the design.

The shopping center is scheduled to have its grand opening ceremonies the first part of October.

Village Market owner, Jim Poulos, says "It's wonderful here"

From grapes to groceries is the story in short of Jim Poulos of the Village Market on Carmel Valley Road in Carmel Valley Village.

Raised in a vineyard near Manteca, Jim didn't stay on the family farm in the Central Valley, which his mother and brother still operate.

"The market for grapes is very unstable--up and down, and mostly down," Jim explained. "It's not improving these days either, because the big wine companies have enlarged their own vineyards greatly.

"So the grapes of the independent vineyardists are bought at the last, and often aren't paid for until the following year after the wineries have sold the wine from them."

World War II came along shortly after Poulos had graduated from Manteca High, and he served four years in the Army. Because of some youthful experience in a grocery store, he was assigned to the commissary at Santa Ana, which he ran during most of his time in the Service.

18 YEARS IN S.F.

After the War, Jim bought a grocery and liquor store in San Francisco, at Valencia and 24th Street. This he ran for the next 18 years.

So it was a major decision for the Pouloses to break away from the big city after this long. They moved to Carmel Valley in January, 1965, when he bought the Village Market.

"We just decided that we would make a big change and move to the country, which turned out to be here," he explained.

"My wife, Rosaleen, is a native San Franciscan, so I thought it would be hard to convert her. But we're happy; it worked out fine." They enjoy their own home on Berwick Drive.

Poulos said that the chief reason for leaving San Francisco was to be able to bring their two boys up in a rural area. Young Jim, 13, and Bobby, 10-1/2, go to the Middle School.

One reason the Pouloses came to this area was that his sister and brother-in-law, the Ced Cederwalls, own the Fairway Market in Monterey and the Seaside Market. They might have headed north of San Francisco, because they have a pleasant cabin on the Russian River, which they get to too seldom these days.

Running the Village Market is a demanding responsibility and Mrs. Poulos helps her husband out three or four hours most days of the week.

"We operate a good, sound, basic family grocery store," Jim pointed out. "Our advantage is being able to give personal attention, which is still important."

Jim Poulos defined his two hobbies as "my business and my family." He also finds time to participate in the Chamber of Commerce.

Although it's a lot different life in Carmel Valley than in the heart of San Francisco, the Pouloses are glad they made the break. "It's wonderful here," Jim enthused. "We really enjoy the community."

Fire causes extensive damage at Al Anderson home

Eighteen men with five trucks from the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department were called to properties owned on La Rancheria by Bill Buskett and Jack Lansdowne where a grass fire burned 1/2 acre. Cause of fire is still under investigation. The alarm was received July 10 at 3:34 p.m.

A Hitchcock Canyon home owned by Al Anderson of Salinas and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Dufur burned July 11 with an estimated loss of $5,000 to the dwelling and a loss of $3,000 to its contents. Thought to have been started from defective wiring, the intense heat from the fire blew a bathroom window from the rear of the house touching off the hillside and burning a quarter of an acre of land. Fifteen men from the Valley department with four trucks assisted by two Forestry pumpers and two Forestry pickups were called at 11:05 a.m. to control the blaze.

Nancy Stekly, 15, of Lupin Lane was brought to the Valley Fire House for first aid treatment of a punctured left hand. The accident occurred July 9 at 2:35 p.m. at the Community Center. She was treated and taken to a local physician.

The Red Cross ambulance was called July 9 at 5:13 p.m. to transport Capt. Claude A. Dillavou (USN ret.), 52 La Rancheria to the Fort Ord Hospital. Capt. Dillavou, who had undergone recent surgery, injured his back in a fall.

Treated at the scene and transported to a local physician's office was Eugene Schetter of Rt. 2, Box 905, Carmel. Mr. Schetter had been kicked by a colt at the Trail and Saddle Club Grounds. The call was received at 10:12 a.m., July 9.

The first aid squad was called to Robles del Rio July 12 at 6:56 p.m. to render assistance to Richard Frazer whose car was struck by another auto while entering the Frazer driveway at Calle de la Ventana. Mr. Frazer was taken to a local doctor's office with moderate injuries.

The Sheriff's Blotter

By Rex Pryer

JULY 16—Leonard Eldridge of Prince's Camp reported someone stranded on cliff above the dam. Sheriff's rescue unit found Frank Cope about 60 feet above the water and 200 feet below the road. They lowered rope on winch and hauled him up.

JULY 16—Bill Lemos of Meadows Road reported the machine at the "76" station at Carmel Rancho had been broken into. Deputies who patrol regularly hadn't seen anyone and an employee reported nothing wrong about 12:30 a.m.

JULY 12—A resident of Flight Road reported her son's pet lamb had been killed during night, probably by a dog. Animal had been mauled and chewed. No direct evidence was found.

JULY 14—A 13 year old Carmel boy reported his bicycle stolen from high school gym. It was a red, 10 speed Banchi, worth $150.

Peninsula FM station sold to KMBY

Sale of Monterey FM station KHFR subject to FCC approval has been announced.

Stoddard P. Johnston, President and General Manager of Johnston Broadcasting, said KHFR-FM's policy of fine music stereo programming would not be changed. The station's call letters will be changed to KMBY-FM.

Kenneth F. Warren, who owned KHFR-FM, will continue as Chief Engineer of the Johnston Broadcasting Company which also operates Monterey Radio Station KMBY.

KMBY-FM is heard at 96.9 mc and serves Monterey, Santa Cruz, Santa Clara, San Benito and Merced counties.

Studios are at 578 Lighthouse in Monterey and transmitter on Mt. Toro. Sale price was not disclosed.

Watercolor show features CV scenes

An exhibit of watercolors by Mrs. George (Helen) Greer of Carmel Valley is currently on display at Robles del Rio Lodge. Mrs. Greer, a resident of Robles, originally was self-taught and has since studied with Nancy Johnson of Carmel.

Many familiar local scenes such as Rosie's Cracker Barrel, the Robles del Rio Lodge, and the Robert Louis Stevenson House in Monterey are included in the show which will hang through July 31.

LINES FROM LOIS
Ach! Hats off To
Mr. Johann Sebastain Bach !

SEVEN CHILDREN BY HIS FIRST WIFE, THIRTEEN BY HIS SECOND! Could YOU sit down and think Creative Thoughts and write Immortal Music with 20 children under foot? And then go calmly off and play the music in the nearest church? OF COURSE, IF HE OWNED OUR DELIGHTFUL adobe, he could put five children in each of its four bedrooms and use the big, separate recreation room with its paneling, fireplace, garden view, et cetera as a combination music room and master bedroom! Well, anyway he would like the price, being the thrifty individual he was (and had to be, what with all those kids needing violins and harpsichords and score paper). It's only $39,500 for this very charming adobe five miles up in the Valley sunshine.

OR RIGHT IN CARMEL, a few blocks from town and convenient to two churches with organs, he could have a rambling Old Carmel charmer with 3 bathrooms and 4 bedrooms in a very woodsy setting on two lots, which is priced at only $38,000.

OR MAYBE HE'D PREFER to get away from it all (or from all of them) in a little retreat of his own. We could suggest a nice rustic cabin in the redwoods on the banks of a year-round stream on a whole acre of forest primeval, down in the Palo Colorado Canyon, for only $15,900. You know-bird song, gurgling stream, wind music for inspiration.

ON CARMEL POINT we have a great retreat, too, a marvelous luxury home in miniature, with a Roman swimming pool, heated of course, the major attraction. Can't quite see Papa Bach in a swimming pool, but if you think YOU would fit into the picture for this hideaway, you could buy a lot of pleasure just a half block from Carmel's white sand beach for only $55,000.

We have so many interesting homes right now. If you have a little time off from the Bach festival, why not see what is available for your size family. Stop in and have a cup of tea and get acquainted even if you aren't interested in looking this trip.

Valleyites plan Arab Show

Plans for the All Arabian Summer Horse Show, to be held July 29, 30, and 31, were finalized at a meeting of the show committee at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. McArthur of Carmel Valley. The show committee, headed by Dr. Wesley Hoskins of Watsonville, includes many Valleyites who are helping to stage the spectacular event which is this year a three day "A" rated show. On the committee are Mrs. Maxine McArthur, Mrs. Roberta Chappell, Mrs. Ann Agee, Mrs. June Hoskins, and Mrs. Andre Forzani; Dr. Douglas Chappell, Vic Silva (whose "Reese River" brought home a championship last year), Mr. Earl Blincoe and Lee Vinson. Jean McDonald is treasurer, and James Glaser of Pebble Beach is again show steward.

The show, a benefit for the Monterey County American Cancer Society, has a Spanish theme, "The Arabian Horse salutes the Spanish Heritage of Monterey Bay." While special events will bear out the theme, all costume classes will remain traditionally Arabian.

Willard Branson and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Patrick, all of Carmel Valley, are working with the show committee as representatives of the A.C.S.

Mrs. Roberta (Bobbie) Chappell, horse show secretary, reports a heavy early entry, including many out of state as well as state-wide exhibitors.

"Most of the local entry comes in at the last minute," Bobbie said, "but so far we have entries for Richard Sinclaire, Vic Silva, Dr. Peter Mutke, Dr. R. McArthur, Roy and Andre Forzani, and Dr. Douglas Chappell, all of Carmel Valley; Alexandria Pratt of Carmel; A. W. Gutekunst of Pacific Grove; Joe Giovinni and E. Hubbert of Monterey; and Betty Bowmer and Harvey Priddy from Salinas."

There will be four performances of the show: Friday at 1 p.m., Saturday at 1:30 and 8 p.m., and Sunday at 1:30.

Mrs. Joseph (Betty) Murphy is the new manager of the Goodwill Store in Seaside. Workers at the Thrift Shop operated by the Carmel Valley Community Chapel feel that this is a worthy promotion for Betty who for many years has had charge of staffing the Valley shop.

Mrs. Thomas (Marjorie) McKiernon replaces Mrs. Murphy as "Chief of Staff" which involves the tast of finding workers (or substitutes) and calling to remind them of their turn to serve on Tuesdays, Thursdays or Saturdays, between 11 and 3 at the shop located upstairs above Fellowship Hall at the Community Chapel on Village Drive.

Mrs. Donald Waylett and Mrs. Fred Mylar are co-chairmen of the shop. Mrs. Elbert Wade is in charge of pricing ready-to-wear.
